JHS MODERNIZATION DESIGN VISION

Help us create a final design vision statement. Does it reflect your vision for the future of JHS?

Grab a sticky Share your thoughts and/or suggestions on the proposed design vision statement.

Proposed Design Vision Statement:

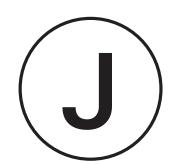

Jefferson HS is where legacy meets the future.

The new Jefferson High School shines with Demo pride as a treasured beacon for families of Albina, embracing the journey of the Demos from the past to the future, fostering a spirited place of belonging, and nurturing the legacy of excellence for generations to come.

Add a dot to words that captures your future vision and 'feels like Jeff'

> Continuity Resilience Bold Joyful Reflective Movement Fluid Dynamic Contrast Abundance Rooted

Aesthetics + Experience: What resonates with you on the look + feel and user experience of the interior?

Place a "J" on any image that feels like Jeff, feels true to Jeff's character or feels like the future of Jeff and tell us why!

WHAT MAKES YOU EXCITED?

Place a BLUE dot on any image that makes you excited, feels like an exciting place to go to school or feels right for this location.

WHAT MAKES YOU NERVOUS?

Place a YELLOW dot on any image that makes you nervous, does not feel like an exciting place to go to school or does not feel right for this location.

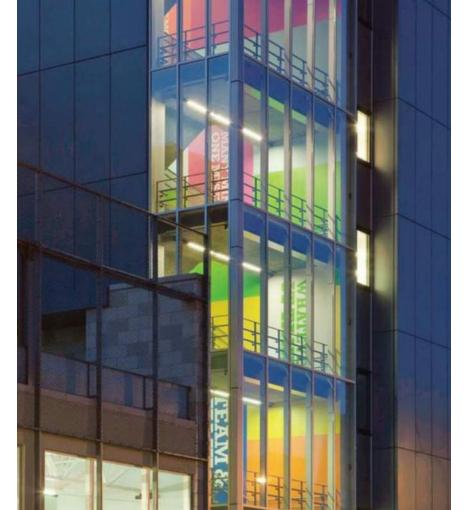

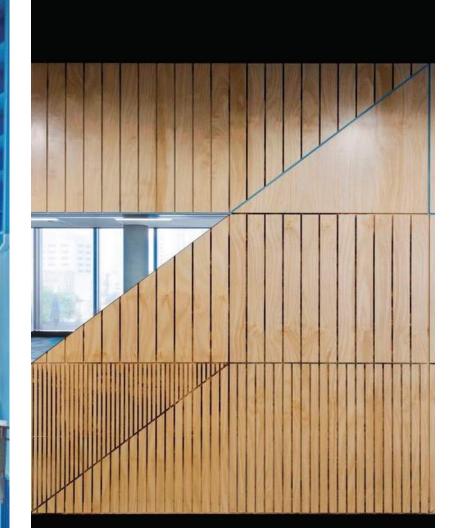

JHS TRACKING COMMUNITY FEEDBACK

CULTURAL PLACEMAKING

The items below were identified by the community and relate to maintaining the legacy of Jefferson High School. They will be incorporated as cultural placemaking elements of this modernization project, creating a tangible legacy of excellence and history at Jefferson.

Opportunities on the site and building will be studied in more detail throughout the design phases to address these items, working closely with the Jeff community.

"Storytelling through the art and murals throughout the building, i.e. stories of diverse community histories, neighborhood history and legacy of Jeff, current student identities, influential cultural figures"

- Carry over historical artifacts from current Jeff to new Jeff, such as artwork, stories, artifacts, building materials and elements. Choose and design these elements with extensive community involvement.
- Allow ways for student-initiated customization over time, so each class can leave their creative mark.
- Include graphic storytelling elements that depict the histories of BIPoC communities at Jeff, within the broader context of events in Portland, the region, and the country.
- Create spaces for gathering and community celebration with cultural art and visual storytelling.
- Provide adaptable ways for new generation of students to personalize space while celebrating creative expression and achievements of previous generations.
- Collaborate with community stakeholders to identify pieces that should be kept and displayed as physical artifacts. Document and archive murals and art pieces in the building to incorporate into future exhibits.
- Celebrate history of Jefferson, provide range of display spaces throughout the building.
- Integrating culturally specific and diverse art throughout the
- Retain memorabilia from athletics spaces, recognizing these key stories and memories in Jefferson history.
- Integrate art throughout the site. Consider the old statue platform and walls of the building as opportunities for art.

SPATIAL DESIGN IMPLICATIONS

These spatial design implications, identified through previous community engagement, will be addressed in this modernization project. Throughout the design phases, the team will develop solutions and share them with the Jeff community to reflect how these implications are incorporated into the project.

Each implication is color coded by narrative themes.

"Community accessible spaces to support leadership education and related types of programming."

"Top of the line stem facilities and programs - i.e. maker space, science lab"

- Create various gathering spaces for both loud and quiet activities, accommodating large groups and smaller meetings.
- over time, so each class can leave their creative mark on Jeff. Employ Trauma Informed Design Principles

Allow flexible, student-initiated customization

- such as: Biophilic design strategies, natural light, materials and forms; Multi-sensory with spaces for retreat; Self reliance and providing choice; lighting temperature and glare.
- Create safe spaces for students to seek refuge or ask for help at the school, i.e. counselors, support groups - locate so its not connected with punishment/ control authorities.
- Quiet/low-stimulus spaces (sensory space) for students who are experiencing sensory overload.
- Allow for access to community programs beyond school hours.
- Provide clear wayfinding for both students and visitors in multiple languages.
- Provide spaces for students to work
- Ensure event spaces are accessible for community use outside school hours.

collaboratively or get tutoring help.

- Locate the main entrance in a clear and visible place, both security and wayfinding considerations, in proximity to other services in the building, i.e. community resources, clinic, admin, etc.
- Provide easily accessible stairs and convenient elevators to the natural flow of students through the school.

"Colorful and playful spatial elements to create a beautiful and welcoming school"

"Flexible spaces for non-class activities such as study and meetings are desired."

- Provide accessible, safe and beautiful restrooms - considering diverse genders, cultural and religious norms and physical abilities. Provide all-user restrooms. Design bathrooms for a spectrum of users. Include
- Provide commons with comfortable and welcoming space for gathering and student single-user and family restrooms.

- Provide spaces with view and connected to nature.
- Provide state of the art classrooms with comfortable movable furnishings, spaces for pin up, and storage.
- Provide spaces for PLAY.
- Provide quiet and open outdoor places to connect to nature.
- Spaces for gathering and community celebration, provide cultural art and visual storytelling.
- Provide adaptable ways for each new generation of students to personalized space while preserving and celebrating creative expression and achievements of previous generations.
- Provide color, playful elements to create a welcoming vibrancy across the school.
- Provide distinguishable character for wayfinding across the school.
- Provide space for new art and artifacts created by students, reflecting identities and stories.
- Welcoming atmosphere for commons, with natural light, open food court style, outside eating areas, self service stations for students who bring their lunch.

BASE REQUIREMENTS

The spatial implications below are comments we heard from the community that align with the PPS Education Specifications requirements for high schools, PPS district standards and the Board approved space program for JHS and/or are required by current building codes. These items are considered base requirements. These items will not be separately tracked, but will be fully incorporated.

Provide space for Indian Education Office suite at Jeff, providing ample space for their learning resources library, program materials, crafting, and cooking. Provide culturally relevant spaces for community access, i.e. a place for smudging, cooking.

Spaces and amenities should be available to communities for events, learning partnerships, etc

Provide spaces to facilitate community support networks, i.e. mentorship opportunities, student groups, connection with other

Provide private changing areas in locker rooms. Gender inclusive spaces are necessary to help students feel safe in vulnerable spaces

Consider safety and sense of welcome for students and visitors.

Provide a communal pantry, i.e. food, clothes, hygiene products considering impact to student overall wellbeing.

Most buildings are rectangles. Does having a unique shape feel like Jefferson? SHAPE

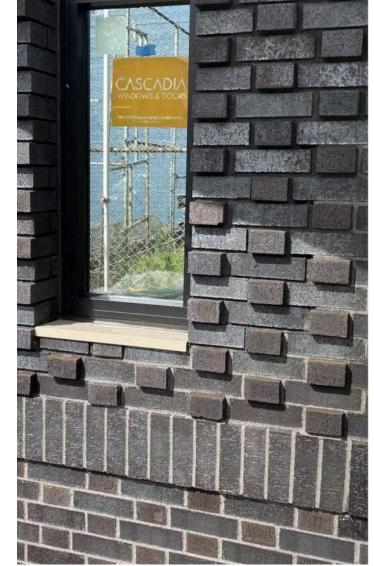

TEXTURE

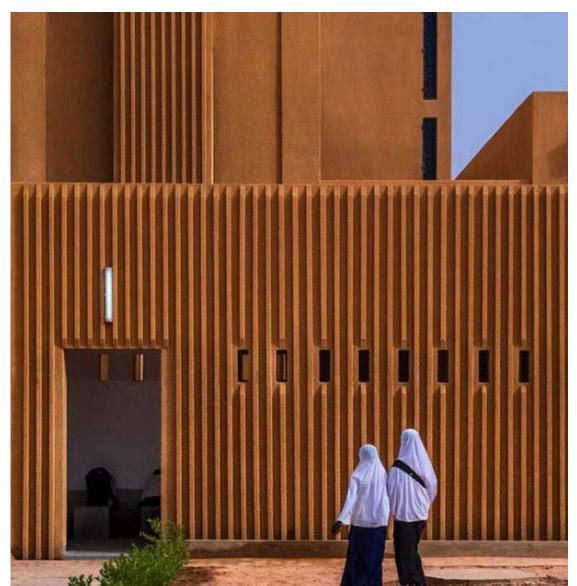

The design team will use building materials like bricks or metal panels to create texture on your building. Is there anything about texture that you are drawn to? If you were to pick a texture that felt right for Jeff - what would it be?

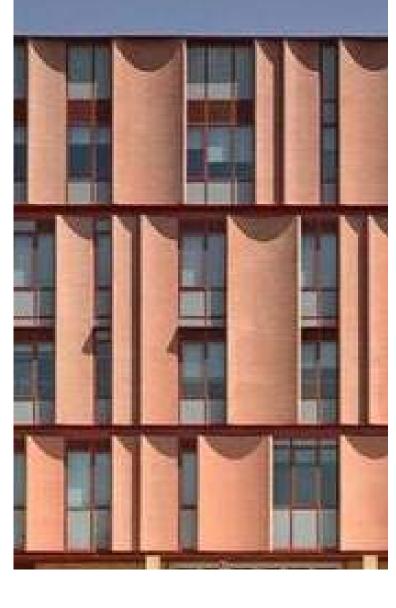

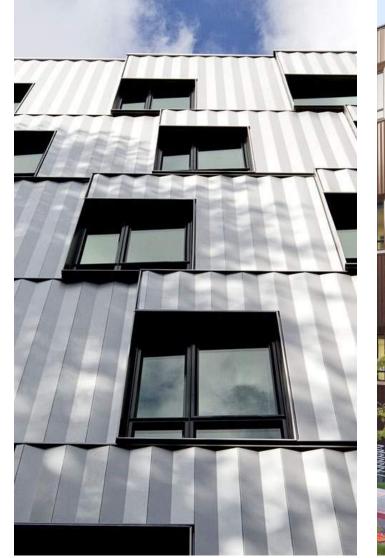

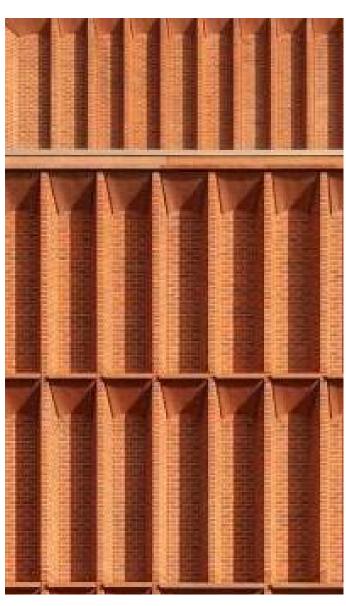

COLOR

Color is a good way to create a mood or feeling, it can be calming to energizing and everything in between. We will use the Demo colors blue and yellow in many places - is there anything about color on the exterior that excites you?

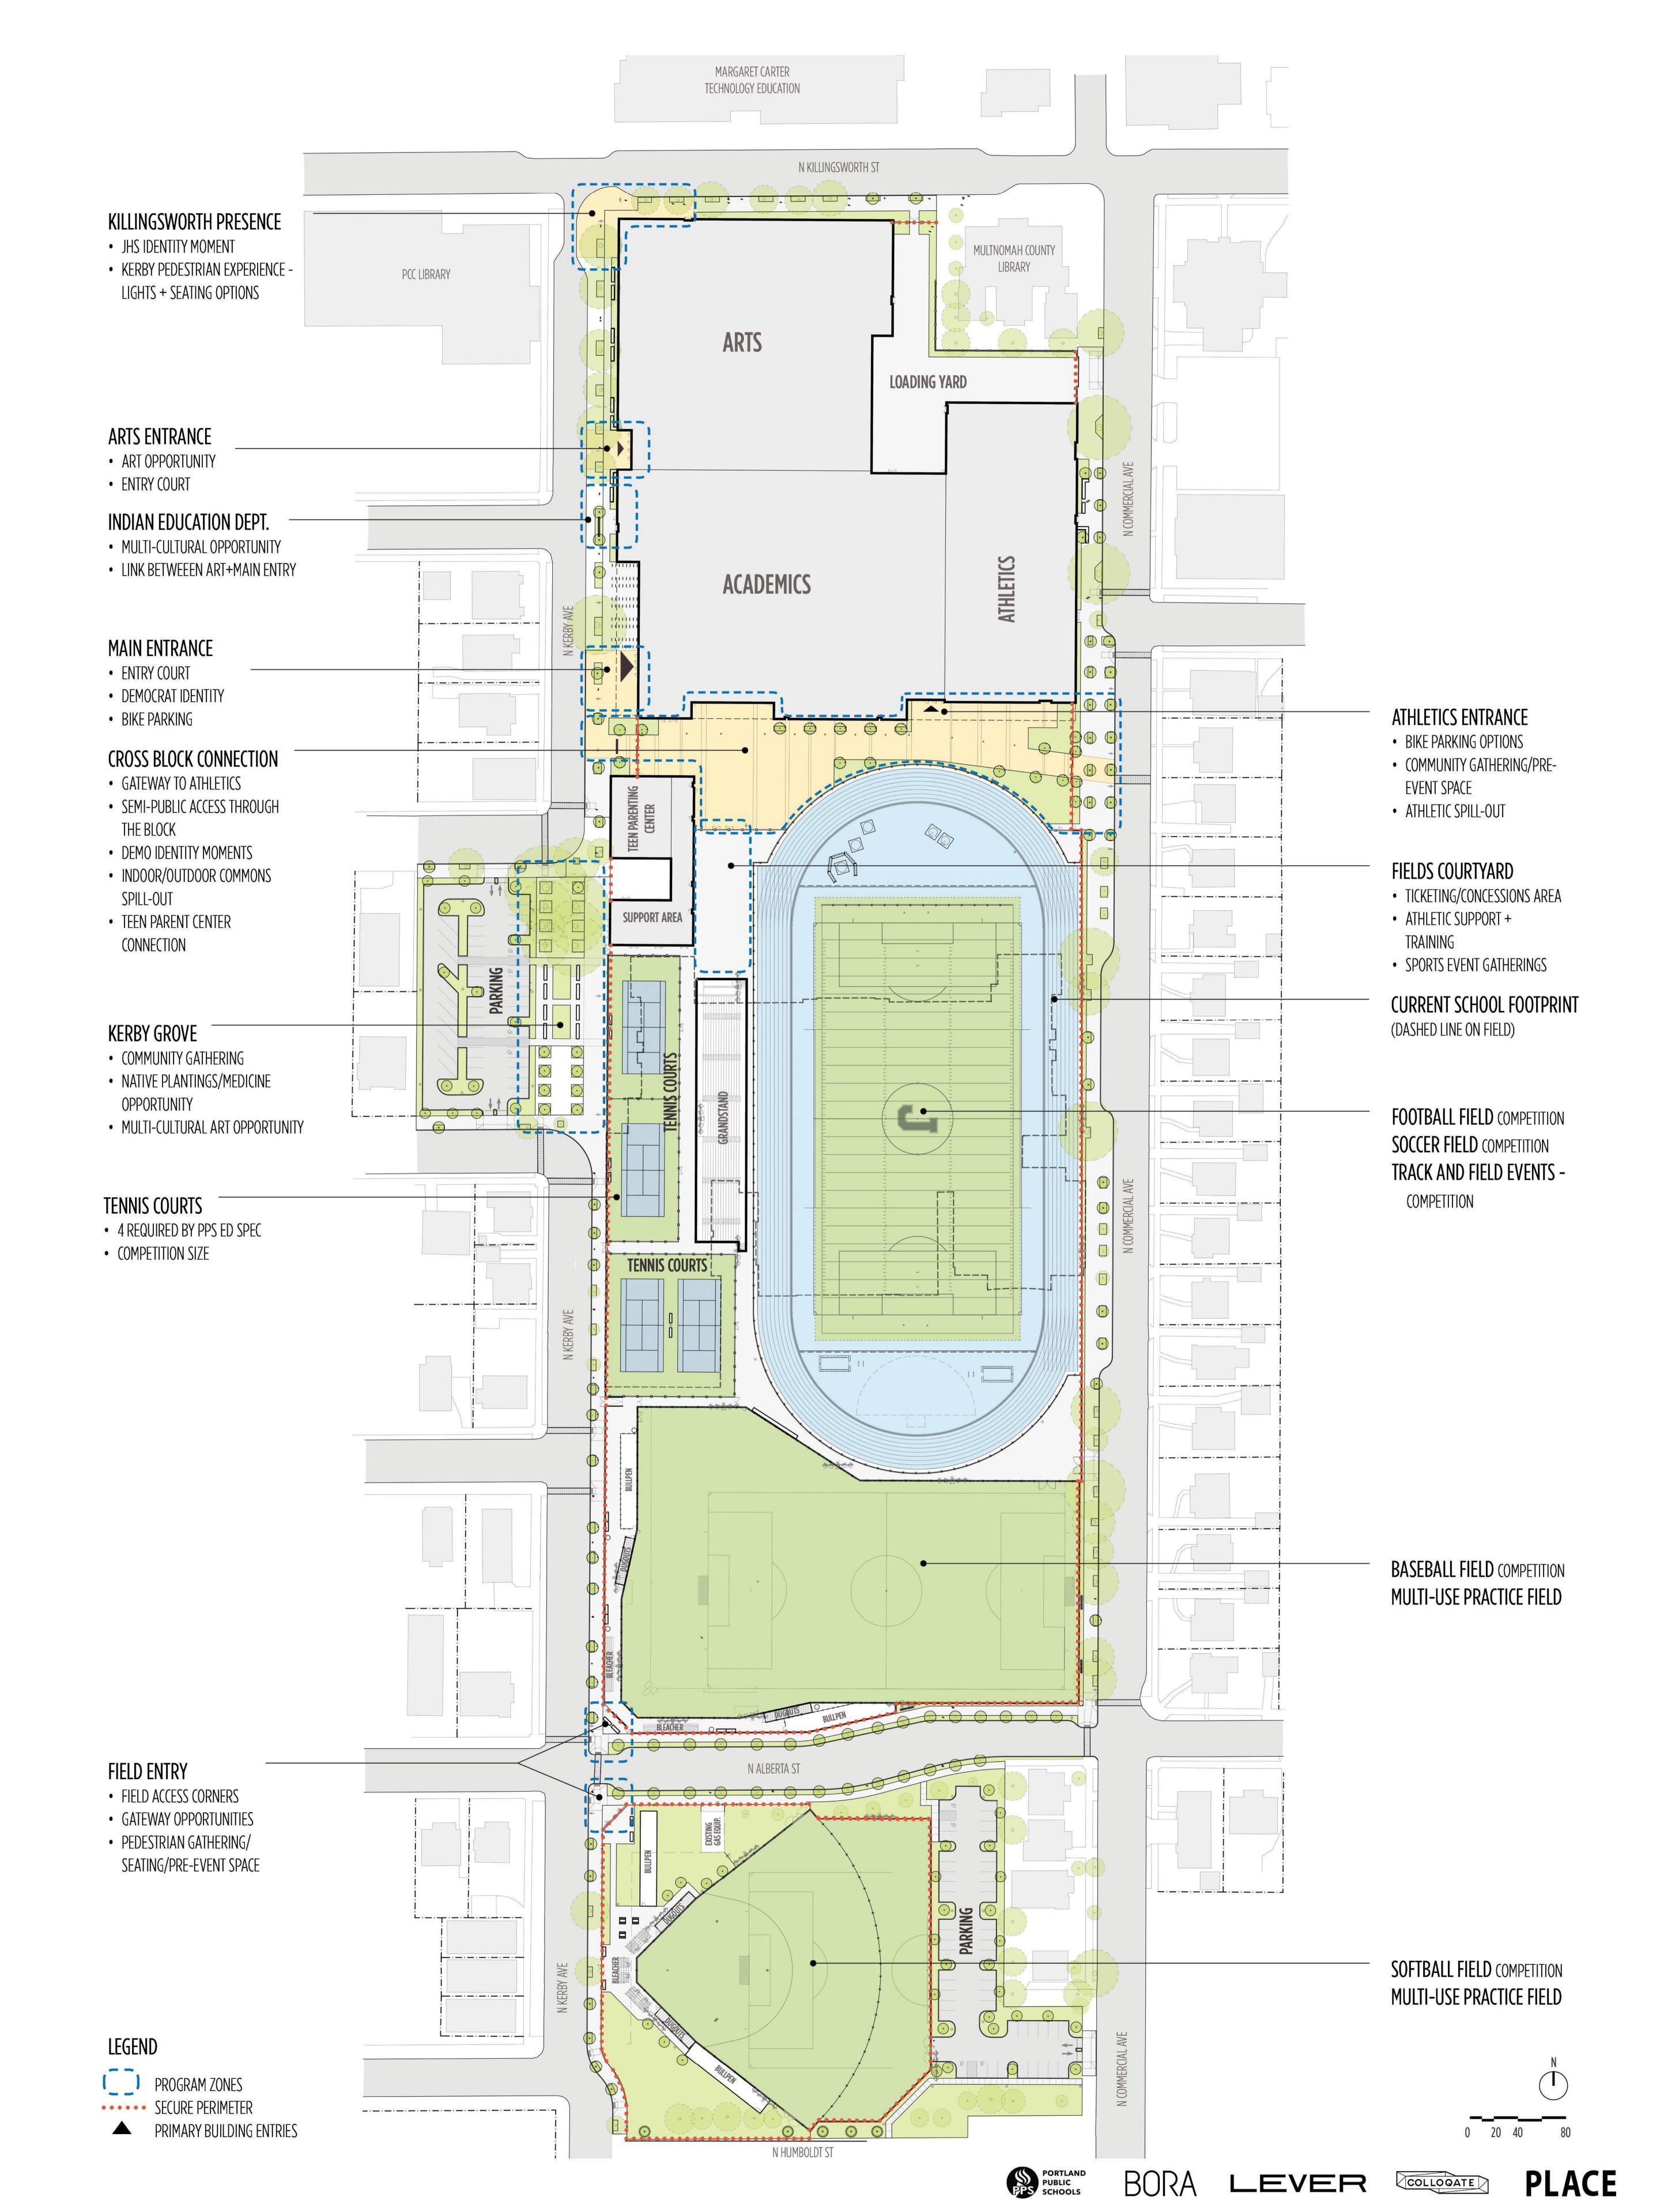

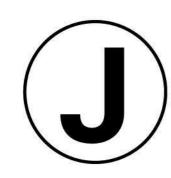

Place a "J" on any image that feels like Jeff, feels true to Jeff's character or feels like the future of Jeff and tell us why!

"A lot of people who comes here don't come here because of the building when we have the best dance and arts program. They could be here and get the education they want and help the Jeff community grow."

- Current Sophomore Student

Value in students documenting their own stories. There is a history of this work at Jeff which is linked to generational pride and achievements for alumni.

Desire for art to be integrated throughout the building

Theater, Band and Choir programs have been fought for by Jeff students, and a focal point of many favorite memories

The dance program is one of the historic pride and joys at Jeff

Keep the tradition of creative expression alive for future generations with flexible, student-initiated customization over time.

"[I want to see] more pictures of people who have succeeded, especially because I know that a lot of Black people have succeeded from the school and graduated and have got degrees, but we have no pictures of them."

"I would want to include a timeline of Jefferson, including photos, trophies, items, etc. I would also want to have people's stories from their time at Jeff. Teachers, students, and staff. I think there is a lot of history at Jefferson and ALL of it should be displayed/ talked about. It would be like some sort of huge time capsule."

JEFF CULTURAL PLACEMAKING COLLAGE!

What objects, images, and aesthetics could help tell the stories of the Jeff Community in the future building?

Add words or images that help set the kind of experience you hope folks can have when they come to Jeff!
